

Cause-Related Marketing Protocols

- If the Special Operations Warrior Foundation brand is to be used in publicity and marketing materials, the Foundation must approve in writing any layout design incorporating the logo prior to production and release.
- Without special written consent, Special Operations Warrior Foundation may only be identified as the beneficiary of your item or campaign without implied endorsement or approval.
- Promotions for your campaign or item must reflect the Special Operations Warrior Foundation as the beneficiary, not the owner, creator, or sponsor.
- Use of the Special Operations Warrior Foundation logo on any promotional materials including, but not limited to, advertising (electronic and print), letters, brochures, flyers, press releases must be approved by SOWF.
- Special Operations Warrior Foundation is not responsible for marketing and/or promoting your item and/or campaign.
- 7. The Special Operations Warrior Foundation is happy to work with companies that are interested in raising funds and awareness through “cause-related marketing.” This relationship must be properly outlined and adhered to in accordance with the guidelines of set forth by the BBB, and listed below.

As a top-rated nonprofit, there are guidelines set forth by the Better Business Bureau (BBB) that we must follow. The standard set by the BBB instructs companies and marketers to:

- “Clearly disclose how the charity benefits from the sale of products, services, or activities that state or imply that a charity will benefit from a consumer sale or transaction.”

Such promotions should disclose, at the point of solicitation:

- The actual or anticipated portion of the purchase price that will benefit the charity (ie. X dollars will be contributed to the Special Operations Warrior Foundation from every ticket sold), or specific percentage of gross or net proceeds (revenue or profit) that will benefit charity (ie. X% of gross proceeds from this item will be donated to SOWF)
- The duration of the campaign, unless ongoing (ie. A three month period, from May 1, XXXX through July 31, XXXX, or the specific date of the event),
- Any maximum or guaranteed minimum contribution amount (i.e. A minimum donation of $15,000 up to a maximum donation of $200,000).
