

COLE HAUSER

BIO

Born on March 22, 1975 in Santa Barbara, California, Cole Hauser is the son of Cass Warner, who founded a film production company (Warner Sisters), and Wings Hauser, an actor. His grandfathers were screenwriters Dwight Hauser and Milton Sperling, and his maternal great-grandfather was film mogul Harry M. Warner, of Warner Bros.

Cole currently stars as Rip Weaver in the popular dramatic television series Yellowstone on the Paramount Network alongside Kevin Costner. Cole has had a long and impressive career in acting, including roles in the films School Ties, Dazed and Confused, Tigerland, White Oleander, Hart's War, Tears of the Sun, Higher Learning, 2 Fast 2 Furious, and other feature film and television programs.

An avid supporter of the Armed Forces, Cole participated in SOWF's 2020 Join Forces: Honoring Veterans social media campaign. He is married to former actress, Cynthia Daniel, and has three children, Colt, Ryland and Steely.
